

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to an absorbent article with an absorbent member, said member having a film-like region comprising chitosan material, and a process for making said absorbent member.